

Marsh Electronics, Inc is an environmentally conscious company committed to staying aligned with the environmental directives. Marsh is working closely with Electronic Component Manufactures and our customers to help manage Lead Free product introduction.

Marsh has developed a Lead Free Product transition plan with key objectives:

1. Work with manufactures in developing Lead Free product transition information.
2. Help customers plan material requirements with out interruption.
3. Provide customers with advanced Lead Free product transition information such as, product identification changes, product obsolescence and packaging labeling changes.

Our Marsh Electronics Sales Team can provide detailed information on our Lead Free Product Transitions/Rohs Compliance project and they can provide more detailed information on the specific components that you use.
